

A brief profile of Prof. J. Savithri, MA., PhD. (Eng), PGDELT, M.Sc (Psy), Professor of English, Osmania University

Prof. J. Savithri holds master's degrees in English and Psychology and a doctoral degree in English Language Teaching. As an author she published several books which have been brought out by renowned publishing houses such as Cambridge University Press India Ltd., Pearson Education, Dorling Kindersley, Orient Blackswan and others. Prof. Savithri visited University of Reading, University of Warwick, Cambridge University and Oxford University in England and some other universities in France, Switzerland, Belgium and Germany on academic engagements. She presented several papers in different national and international conferences. She was a part of an international consultancy project on 'Developing Pronunciation App for Apple and Android Phones' in collaboration with the University of Napier, Edinburgh, Scotland. She is a well-known Resource Person at various Academic Staff Colleges including Osmania University, University of Hyderabad and JNTU Hyderabad. She held different administrative positions at Osmania University such as Dean, College Development Council (CDC), Head, Department of English, Director, Centre for English Language Training, and so on.